

About

Lower Cape Cod Digital is a large, one person software house delivering web applications and sites, and utilities. Jay, the large, one person, is versed in web languages and applicatoins including PHP and MySQL, (html and xml of course). He has won awards for software products and taught at Learning Tree International,, and consultled for clients such as CitiCorp, Donaldson Lufkin & Jenrette, Novell, Kllder Peabody and others.

We have access to people for additional help on an ad hoc basis, our maximum project staff has been five people working 60 hour weeks for four weeks on a rush job.

Along with web sites we are well versed in system reliability and security methods, from firewalls to spam managers to anti-virus and network encryption both WiFi and wired LANs and WANs.

We have shipped our own Linux distribution and are expert in Linux configurations including use of thin client/application server methods as well as
